
TRINITY GAZETTE

Issue 30

November 2008

Welcome to the Trinity Gazette!

By Ute Galloway

NetudoMagic

Visit us on the web at www.trinityfree.com

- 1 Expectations
- 2 Ten Predictions
- 2 Your Place in God's Band
- 2 Poetry Corner
- 3 Something to Think about – Mathematics
- 4 People don't care how much you know
- 4 What can I say
- 5 Hello, Friends!
- 6 Get to know me
- 7 Coming off Your High Horse
- 7 International Cuisine
- 8 From the left field
- 8 Favorite Verse
- 8 Editor's Comment

Expectations

By Ute Galloway

Expectation, a word we all grow up with in our life. The world has us fulfill all kinds of expectations, different items we all have been told over the years. Everyone has things we are expected to do. Our parents wanted us to obey, work hard, make friends, keep our room clean, and behave in public. All of these are very important, I find myself asking the same things of my son, my parents asked of me. Of course, as you read this, I can see you heads bobbing up and down in agreement for these expectations are good expectations to have for our children. Right, right! So then, our children grow up and leave our house to follow their own lives' desires and to fulfill the expectations of their friends and society around them. Now here it is when it becomes hard, why you ask, because this is when it will be hard to stand back and let them do what they have decided to do. This is the hardest challenge I have; for I can see the traps opening up everywhere, and there is nothing I can do; but to watch them fall into them. So what do you do then, if you go and help them out of the trap are they going to learn from their ill begotten choice? Now here is a question that provided me with many hours of hard thinking, and yes with decisions that it is time to let them figure it out by themselves. Now this is what you can do with the children who are on their own, but what about your teenager? I know many people who believe to let their teenager do what they want why interfere they are old enough they must learn. Yes, they must learn, but not without my guidance, and thank God for the best handbook in the world, not without the Word of God!

It is filled with everything you need to help your teenager battle temptation, and yes to come clean once they have done some dumb things. I recently was placed in this situation and I must say, thank you Lord for giving me the opportunity to teach my teen your Word everyday. He did his ill begotten deed, he confessed, he ask for forgiveness and we moved on.

Here is what makes my day, even after I have to deal with all things I have not instilled in my child, his strong headedness, the total lack of respect, the rudeness and lack of completed judgment, I know what my God expects of me.

The total and absolute love, forgiveness, compassion, and understanding for them. Why, because God has it for me, and with this said, I will continue to do my best with the teachings for our children and grandchildren by using the Word of God. I will continue to love them, and forgive them in hope when they become parents themselves the expectation, which I assumed from my parents will be assumed by them with the help of God's word.

Just remember the promise God made you, your teen will become a great man or woman of God and he has awesome plans for them! I personally am holding God to it.

TEN PREDICTIONS NO MATTER WHO WINS THE ELECTION:

- 1) The Bible will still have all the answers.
- 2) Prayer will still work.
- 3) The Holy Spirit will still move.
- 4) God will still inhabit the praises of His people.
- 5) There will still be God-anointed preaching.
- 6) There will still be singing of praise to God.
- 7) God will still pour out blessings upon His people.
- 8) There will still be room at the Cross.
- 9) Jesus will still love you.
- 10) Jesus will still save the lost.

ISN'T IT GREAT TO KNOW WHO IS STILL IN CONTROL?

(Amen!)

Thank you, Diana Treen for giving me this information.

Your Place in God's Band

by Max Lucado

Two of my teenage years were spent carrying a tuba in my high school marching band. My mom wanted me to learn to read music, and the choir was full while the band was a tuba-tooter short, so I signed up. Not necessarily what you would describe as a call from God, but it wasn't a wasted experience either.

I had a date with a twirler.

I learned to paint white shoe polish on school buses.

And I learned some facts about harmony that I'll pass on to you.

I marched next to the bass-drum player. What a great sound. Boom. Boom. Boom. Deep, cavernous, thundering.

And at the end of my flank marched the flute section. Oh, how their music soared. Whispering, lifting, rising into the clouds.

Ahead of me, at the front of my line, was our first-chair trumpet. He could raise the spirit. He could raise the flag. He could have raised the roof on the stadium if we'd had one.

The soft flute needs the brash trumpet needs the steady drum needs the soft flute needs the brash trumpet.

Get the idea? The operative word is need. They need each other.

By themselves they make music. But together, they make magic.

Now, what I saw two decades ago in the band, I see today in the church. We need each other. Not all of us play the same instrument. Some believers are lofty, and others are solid. Some keep the pace while others lead the band. Not all of us make the same sound. Some are soft, and others are loud. And not all of us have the same ability. But each of us has a place.

Some play the drums (like Martha).

Some play the flute (like Mary).

And others sound the trumpet (like Lazarus).

Mary, Martha, and Lazarus were like family to Jesus. After the Lord raised Lazarus from the dead, they decided to give a dinner for Jesus. They decided to honor him by having a party on his behalf (see John 12:2).

They didn't argue over the best seat. They didn't resent each other's abilities. They didn't try to outdo each other. All three worked together with one purpose. But each one fulfilled that purpose in his or her unique manner. Martha served; she always kept everyone in step. Mary worshiped; she anointed her Lord with an extravagant gift, and its aroma filled the air. Lazarus had a story to tell, and he was ready to tell it.

Three people, each one with a different skill, a different ability. But each one of equal value.

Poetry Corner

By Tim Howell

Hugs can speak loudly

Though nothing is heard

They are a special I love you

Without saying a word

Those times when I'm troubled

And life seems unfair

Its that silent embrace

That says I really do care

For the warmth of two arms

When they're wrapped around me

Helps my burden seem lighter

And my soul becomes free

But hugs should be shared

As a car should be driven
While they're great to receive
They first should be given.

Something to Think about

Finding Joy

By George Washington Carver

How far you go in life depends on

Your being tender with the young,

Compassionate with the aged,

Sympathetic with the striving,

And tolerant with the weak ...

Because in your life you will

Have been all of these.

The Beauty of Mathematics!!!!!!

send to me by Rosaline Bennett

$$1 \times 8 + 1 = 9$$

$$12 \times 8 + 2 = 98$$

$$123 \times 8 + 3 = 987$$

$$1234 \times 8 + 4 = 9876$$

$$12345 \times 8 + 5 = 98765$$

$$123456 \times 8 + 6 = 987654$$

$$1234567 \times 8 + 7 = 9876543$$

$$12345678 \times 8 + 8 = 98765432$$

$$123456789 \times 8 + 9 = 987654321$$

$$1 \times 9 + 2 = 11$$

$$12 \times 9 + 3 = 111$$

$$123 \times 9 + 4 = 1111$$

$$1234 \times 9 + 5 = 11111$$

$$12345 \times 9 + 6 = 111111$$

$$123456 \times 9 + 7 = 1111111$$

$$1234567 \times 9 + 8 = 11111111$$

$$12345678 \times 9 + 9 = 111111111$$

$$123456789 \times 9 + 10 = 1111111111$$

$$9 \times 9 + 7 = 88$$

$$98 \times 9 + 6 = 888$$

$$987 \times 9 + 5 = 8888$$

$$9876 \times 9 + 4 = 88888$$

$$98765 \times 9 + 3 = 888888$$

$$987654 \times 9 + 2 = 8888888$$

$$9876543 \times 9 + 1 = 8888888898765432 \times 9 + 0 = 8888888888$$

Brilliant, isn't it?

And look at this symmetry:

$$1 \times 1 = 1$$

$$11 \times 11 = 121$$

$$111 \times 111 = 12321$$

$$1111 \times 1111 = 1234321$$

$$11111 \times 11111 = 123454321$$

$$111111 \times 111111 = 12345654321$$

$$1111111 \times 1111111 = 1234567654321$$

$$11111111 \times 11111111 = 123456787654321$$

$$111111111 \times 111111111 = 12345678987654321$$

Now, take a look at this...

101% From a strictly mathematical viewpoint:

What Equals 100%? What does it mean to give MORE than 100%? Ever wonder about those people who say they are giving more than 100%? We have all been in situations where someone wants you to GIVE OVER 100%. How about ACHIEVING 101%? What equals 100% in life? Here's a little mathematical formula that might help answer these questions:

If the alphabet: A B C D E F G H I J K L M N O P Q R S
T U V W X Y Z

Is represented as: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17
18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26

H-A-R-D-W-O- R- K would equal:

$$8+1+18+4+23+15+18+11 = 98\%$$

And K-N-O-W-L-E- D-G-E equals $11+14+15+23+$

$$12+5+4+7+ 5 = 96\%$$

But: A-T-T-I-T-U- D-E equals $1+20+20+9+20+ 21+4+5$
 $= 100\%$

THEN, look how far the love of God will take you: L-O-V-
E-O-F- G-O-D $12+15+22+5+15+ 6+7+15+4 = 101\%$

Therefore, one can conclude with mathematical certainty that: While Hard Work and Knowledge will get you close, and Attitude will get you there, It's the Love of God that will put you over the top!

“People don’t care how much you know, until they know how much you care...about them.”

Send in by Doug Edwards

“And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.” –1 Corinthians 13:2

When Jim was diagnosed with cancer, his company heartlessly dumped him. In battling the disease, he used up all of his insurance fund, and his life savings. A church deacon went to visit Jim and asked boldly, "Have you prepared for your life after death?"

Jim became irate, and swearing at the man he said, "All you Christians think about is what's going to happen after I die. If your God is so great, why doesn't He do something about the real problems of life?" He bitterly complained that he was leaving his wife penniless and his daughter without money for college. Then he ordered the man to leave his house.

The man thought about what Jim had said and soon returned. "I offended you and I'm sorry," he said. "I've been working on your problems. A realtor I know has agreed to sell your house and give your wife his commission. Some of us will make your house payments until the house is sold. The earnings from your house should pay for your daughter's college. Also, the owner of an apartment building up the street has offered to give your wife a unit, with free utilities, plus a monthly salary in exchange for managing the complex."

Jim cried like a baby. He could finally hear the Gospel message with an open heart.

What can I say.....

by Dagmar Taylor

So Ute asked me to write an article for the Gazette. We talked about a few issues, and naturally, since Ray and I just finished facilitating our first Dynamic Marriage class, marriages were the main topic, in particular the various "annoying habits" we experience with our mates. You know - leaving the toilet seat up, leaving the cap off the toothpaste, dropping the underwear & socks where? Right NEXT to the hamper! How about the towel that was just used from getting fresh out of the shower - where did it wind up? Let's move to the kitchen - do your dirty dishes ALL wind up where they belong? Are you sure? All the glasses and cups? What about the bread and knife used to make a sandwich? Are these magnificent items used to nourish your body put back so they can provide the same for the next person? As a generous oversight, we won't even go into the bedroom!

And the list could go on forever, right? What are some of the unsual "bugaboos"? How about submitting some of YOUR favorites! Here's one I'm guilty of (I'm sure Ray can think of quite a few more): asking a question and then expecting an immediate response! Here's the answer provided by "Ezinearticles.com" :

•Honor the "5-Second Delay". Wives, when you ask your husband a question such as "Where would you like to go to dinner?" or "What time do your football games come on TV?" or any other question for that matter, there's often dead silence after you pose the question. You wonder: Did he hear me? Should I repeat the question? Solution: After asking a question, countdown backwards and slowly to yourself 5-4-3-2-1. Then, and only then, should you repeat the question. Men just take a little longer to compute things.

Why didn't I think of that? The solution is so simple.....

We learned a lot in our classes, basically how simple it is to be the best mate possible, and we're all still learning. We learn how to ignore this little "annoying habits" or learn that if it is a problem, how to deal with it. Speaking of problems, I was cleaning out some old paper stuff that accumulates - yes, Ray, I know that's an "annoying habit" which is a problem, therefore, the cleaning and weeding out. So anyway, I came across a hand-written note made several years ago, outlining things I needed to discuss with my staff. Here in a nutshell were a few items: 1- better understanding of responsibilities of individuals - scope of responsibilities - take guesswork out of who is responsible for what; 2- squelch lack of cooperation - teamwork is essential - need to state our goals; 3- not enough praise, too often blame is given, even though there is enough reason to give praise in generous amounts; 4- priorities need to be set up AND enforced.

Seems to me these "Gems" of a fertile mind can be applied to any relationship, especially marriage. Believe me, Dynamic Marriage material incorporates these ideas and more, much more. If you feel spoken to by any of the above mentioned, maybe you'd like to take this class with your mate.

Ingredients of a Happy Marriage (Florence Kaslow, Ph.D.)

- ~ Open expression of love and affection
- ~ Mutual trust and respect
- ~ Shared interests and values
- ~ Shared love for and interest in their children
- ~ The ability to give and take
- ~ Sensitivity to each other's needs and wishes
- ~ Playfulness and having fun together
- ~ A good sense of humor

Alright, ,Graduates of the Dynamic Marriage class, don't you agree with the above? 'Nuff said!

Be humble and gentle. Be patient with each other, making allowance for each other's faults because of your love. Always keep yourselves united in the Holy Spirit, and bind yourselves together with peace.
Eph 4:2-3

Hello Friends!

From Ellen & Bob Hargrave

During our time in Kenya, Bob and I tried to keep you all updated with how God was working in our lives on a regular basis. We realize that since we have been stateside we have become more and more infrequent in our correspondence. We are going to make an effort now to do a better job! We so appreciate your prayer, interest and financial support! ☺

To start off, I want to give a brief update on the preparations for my trip to Niger in January. As of this writing, God has now provided $2100 of the $2700 needed for my plane ticket! Praise God and thanks to each of you who have contributed toward this trip and those of you who are praying! What an encouragement!

With each e-mail we hope to highlight one aspect of our ministry.

Hospitality –

One of my, Ellen's, main responsibilities here at ECHO is hospitality – I am responsible to see that our guests are received well, made to feel comfortable, etc. We run the ECHO Guest House, so some of the visitors stay in the house in which we live. In the past couple of years, housing has increased on the ECHO Campus – this means that some of the visitors stay in other housing. Therefore, houses need to be cleaned, people need to be picked up at the airport, meals need to be cooked – and time needs to be taken to listen and – well – whatever! This “work” is done in conjunction with a couple of other staff members and a host of volunteers.

I'd like to highlight some of the visitors that we have had during the month of October. Last week we had on campus the HACC (Health, Agriculture, Community and Culture) Course. Here is a brief synopsis of the course from the ECHO website...

HACC - Health, Agriculture, Culture and Community workshop

Many common health problems around the world come from unhealthy behavior. Motivating people to make behavioral changes is difficult because the roots of behavior are in culturally determined beliefs and values. The arena for promoting behavioral changes is in dialogue about the cultural values and beliefs that underlie behavior. An understanding of cultural anthropology and the practice of cross-cultural communication is essential for successful motivation of changes in community development, and behavior related to health, nutrition, and agriculture.

The biblical view of reality provides fundamental principles of health and healthy behavior and gives core cultural values important for community development. The Global Health Training Program at King College in Bristol TN in association with ECHO, offers a biannual five-day workshop to train health and community development professionals on how to help people improve their own health and nutrition. The workshop brings together biblical principles of health and agriculture, cross-cultural methods of communication, and skills in establishing relationships that facilitate behavioral changes for the improvement of health and nutrition. It is excellent preparation for an inter-cultural ministry of transformational development.

Most of the participants in this course are medical professionals who are in the support raising phase of their preparation to be career missionaries. It was so exciting to be with these folks who have passionately committed their lives to serving Him cross-culturally. Most are giving up the opportunity to work in very financially lucrative fields to serve the least of these – a real inspiration to us!

Last week's participants will be serving God in Rwanda, Cambodia, China, Papua New Guinea, Philippines and Togo and with the International Mission Board (Southern Baptists), Reach Global (Evangelical Free Church), Church of the Nazarene, ABWE (Association of Baptists for World Evangelism) and local churches. I was privileged to be responsible for their meals for the week and one couple stayed in the house with us. Such stimulating conversations!

We now have visiting a woman from Uganda who works in Kenya, Tanzania, and Uganda as a grassroots women's trainer, overseer of several schools, HIV/AIDS counselor, and house mother for 30 girls. She is here for a week with a couple from here in Southwest Florida that are members of the board of the organization she works for.

This next week we will also be hosting a gentleman who is going to Kenya along with his wife for a two year assignment with MCC (Mennonite Central Committee) and a young woman who has just graduated from Fuller Seminary with a degree in Intercultural Studies. There was also a young man here for two months who has just left. There will also be a couple from a church in Ohio who will be scouting things out before bringing a work team from their church this spring!

Next week ECHO will be hosting volunteers from the Christian Farmers Association who will spend a week working on the farm. I have all work teams to our home for one Thank you meal during their stay, and will be doing that on Monday night the 27th of October.

This is just a sampling of the folks who will actually be staying on campus – Bob is also involved in their time here in many ways – Next week we will plan to feature his role in these visitors lives!

Get to know me

By Ute Galloway

Nicholas Jenkins

Ute: How long have you been coming to Trinity?

Nick: since January of 2008

Ute: what brought you here?

Nick: well, easily enough, probably my mother. She introduced me to Trinity. Trinity is very different from the churches I went to in Palm Beach County. Trinity has family where everyone helps everyone. In the other churches I attended, it always was Hi my name is, here is what we are doing, and here is how it will be done. This is new to me, and it is more than any other church I ever have been to.

Ute: Who is your mother?

Nick: Kim Gilmore or Kim Graves as she is known now.

Ute: Why did you become a Christian?

Nick: I was baptized Catholic, but I really believed in God about five years ago. Prior to that, I really was an agnostic a person who really did not understand anything.

Ute: what was it five years ago what made you become a Christian?

Nick: Realization I had concerns in my life, I realized that there is a God. I seriously asked him for some things from time to time, and he would give it to me exactly the way I had asked him for it. It always included a lesson he wanted me to learn. So then I ask myself later, why did I have to ask him for this? Then I sat down and I started to reason with myself, and then I would do the same with God. Now I finally realize how the puzzle pieces fit together, what the purpose is behind it I spend three to four years where I studied different religions, and I found Christianity has warmth and love to it , then the irony hit I had come full circle.

Ute: How does that fit with your girl?

Nick: Interesting enough, when we first start dating she told me that she is Buddhist fundamentally. Then she explained to me that there are different degrees of Buddhism. For instant, she invited me down to be part of a 1st Communion celebration, and I asked her how this fit in with being a Buddhist does? She then explained to me that it is normal to be a Buddhist/ Christian. Basically they go ahead an pick out the rules they like.

Ute: How long have you been together?

Nick: About two years.

Ute: Where does she stand now?

Nick: Pretty much the same, she is still a Buddhist/Christian.

Ute: You have been involved in all kinds of work around the church. What is one of your vision for a ministry at Trinity?

Nick: Dave has the ability to take the word of God, which was written 1600 – 1800 years ago, and put it into context for our problems today. I would love to capture it, bundled it, and get it to the people who need to hear them. There are plenty of people out there, who never heard the word of God. Who need to!

Ute: How would you go about it?

Nick: I am not sure, but you could go and sell the bundles of message to people here in the USA, and then use the money to get the message to people across the world to people who can't afford it. One of the lessons I learned is that God taught me the diversity of the different cultures. It is important to understand that we also have to learn about other cultures so we can also understand what makes them tick. You know I have been following the stock market and I have realized that Aluminum is up in prize and I want to start a can drive. You can get now a dollar for thirty-two cans. Instead of throwing them away, why not make some good revenue for the church?

Ute: I heard that you are now open to do projects for Trinity on Thursday?

Nick: That is right, On Thursday s Trinity day. What ever falls on I am willing to help and get the job done.

Ute: what kind of advice do you have for young man your age?

Nick GO out and find yourself, stop just letting everything pass you by. Do not go through life like a Robot, become a character. Do things. Produce.

Ute: What is your favorite verse

Nick: Romans 7:13.

But how can that be? Did the law, which is good, cause my death? Of course not! Sin used what was good to bring about my condemnation to death. So we can see how terrible sin really is. It uses God's good commands for its own evil purposes.

There you have it, if you need help go talk to Nick. He is ready to work for God. What an awesome man of God!

Coming off Your High Horse

By Josh Mc Dowell Youth Devotions – October 17

Bible Reading: Hebrew 11: 24 – 27

Take my yoke upon you. Let me teach you, because I am humble and gentle, and you will find rest for your souls. Matthew 11:29

During the American War for Independence, a group of soldiers had been assigned to cut down some trees to make a bridge across a creek. The work was very hard, and the men were making slow progress. As they grunted and sweated, a man rode up on a horse and looked over the scene.

The man on the horse spoke to one of the soldiers, who was not working but was telling the others what they should do. "You don't have enough men, do you?" the man on the horse asked.

"No," said the man who had been giving orders.

"Why don't you lend a hand yourself?" the man on the horse asked. "Me?" the soldier answered in a shocked tone. "Why, sir, I am a corporal!" "Ah," said the man on the horse, as if the soldier's rank explained everything. HE got off his horse and helped the men. When the trees were all cut down and the bridge was built, he got back on his horse and saluted the corporal. "The next time there's work to be done and you don't have enough men to do it, just call for your commander in chief and I will come again," he said. The man on the horse was General George Washington. That story, which is one of many great stories found in William Bennett's book The Moral Compass, shows the greatness of George Washington. Although he was a general and the commander in chief of all the American armies in the Revolutionary War (and later the first president), he humbled himself to do the work a corporal wouldn't do!

If that story shows the greatness of George Washington, how much greater is our Lord, Jesus Christ! Although He was God and the one through whom everything is the world was created, He humbled Himself and came to earth to live a sinless life and die a horrible death – for all of us!

The example of Jesus reminds us that humility is good and right, because the Almighty God himself humbled himself for us. If God himself was not "Too proud" to be humble," we should let him teach us, as today's Bible reading says, to "be humble and gentle" (Matthews 11:29)

International Cuisine.

1) Salade Niçoise

Taken from the Betty Crocker site

Serve with...Basil Vinaigrette

¼ cup olive or vegetable oil

¼ cup white wine vinegar

½ teaspoon salt

2 teaspoons chopped fresh basil leaves or 1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves

¼ teaspoon ground mustard

1/8 teaspoon pepper

Salad

¾ lb fresh green beans

Salad Greens

4 plum (Roma) tomatoes or 2 medium tomatoes, sliced

2 hard-cooked eggs, cut in fourths

1 can (9 oz) tuna, drained

½ cup pitted ripe olives

1 can (2 oz) anchovy fillets, if desired

Chopped fresh parsley, if desired

In tightly covered container, shake all vinaigrette ingredients until well blended. Refrigerate until serving time

In medium saucepan, place beans in 1 inch water (salted if desired). Heat to boiling; reduce heat. Boil uncovered 5 minutes. Cover and boil about 5 minutes longer or until crisp-tender; drain. Refrigerate beans about 1 hour or until cold.

Line 4 plates with salad greens. Arrange beans, tomatoes and eggs around edges of plates. Mound tuna in center. Garnish with olives, anchovies and parsley. Serve with vinaigrette

2) Comi Salad from Guatamala

Send in by Eleanor Stewart

You cut up a head of cauliflower and one of broccoli. Then you take mayonnaise, vinegar, and sugar and mix and mix it in with the cauliflower and broccoli. I am guessing about 1/4 cup of sugar, a 1/2 cup of mayonnaise, and 1/4 cup of vinegar. You can also add raisins and some almonds to this.

From the left field

"The Computer is Down"

Taken from the Christian Joke Website

Two priests died at the same time and met Saint Peter at the Pearly Gates. St. Peter said, "I'd like to get you guys in now, but our computer is down. You'll have to go back to Earth for about a week, but you can't go back as priests. So what else would you like to be?"

The first priest says, "I've always wanted to be an eagle, soaring above the Rocky Mountains."

"So be it," says St. Peter, and off flies the first priest.

The second priest mulls this over for a moment and asks, "Will any of this week 'count', St. Peter?"

"No, I told you the computer's down. There's no way we can keep track of what you're doing."

"In that case," says the second priest, "I've always wanted to be a stud."

"So be it," says St. Peter, and the second priest disappears.

A week goes by, the computer is fixed, and the Lord tells St. Peter to recall the two priests. "Will you have any trouble locating them?" He asks.

"The first one should be easy," says St. Peter. "He's somewhere over the Rockies, flying with the eagles. But the second one could prove to be more difficult."

"Why?" asketh the Lord.

"He's on a snow tire, somewhere in North Dakota."

Favorite Verse

2 Timothy 2: 22

Run from anything that stimulates youthful lusts. Instead, pursue righteous living, faithfulness, love, and peace. Enjoy the companionship of those who call on the Lord with pure hearts.

Editor's Comments

Ute@trinityfree.com

Yet another month passed, the elections are done. The Entertainment of the political battles are at end, and so we can return to the peace and freedom of our own trials and tribulations. I at least have to speak for my own life, which the world keeps me hopping. So what do I do when I find myself at wits end? I pray to God to help me, I will call my spiritual family and ask them to pray for me as well. What a blessing it is; to have my spiritual family to surround me, to pray for me, and to love me! Thank God for giving me family which goes far beyond the family you have given me in this world as my birthright. So the next time you are in need have God help you out, and the rest of your spiritual family are standing by waiting to love on you and to pray with and for you any time you need us.